The College

Established in 1980 by Josy Knowland as “Film Make-up Technology” the College has a first class reputation in make-up and special effects for providing professionally trained and highly motivated graduates who have achieved recognition both in Australia and internationally. That reputation has been enhanced through the work of Scott Lattimer who brings his own levels of expertise in education. Graduates from our courses regularly obtain employment in film and television, theatre and other areas of the performing arts, as well as with major fashion houses, international cosmetic companies and retail make-up outlets. We hope that you will become one of our success stories, like so many others before you.

Course Duration

Courses consist of a minimum of 38 weeks full time study comprising a minimum of 20 contact hours per week.

Tuition

Tuition is conducted by fully qualified trainers and industry professionals working in their fields of expertise. The College offers 24 places for make-up students and 10 places for special effects students in each course. This ensures a low student teacher ratio to ensure high levels of direct instruction for our students.

Teaching & Assessment Methods

Teaching is done through demonstration, group lectures, and practical work.

Ongoing assessment is based on the industry training package assessment criteria. Final Assessment takes place at the end of the course prior to graduation. There may be practical and theoretical examination as part of the assessment process.

Orientation:

On acceptance the College will enrol the student. Student orientation will occur in the first week of study and will involve an introduction to the College, basic procedures for study, provision of notes and policy documents.
